Dakota College at Bottineau Course Outline/Syllabus

Course Prefix/Number/Title:
110 Sociology

Course Description:
Sociology is the scientific study of human society and the social interactions with it. We all obviously have considerable experience living in society and interaction with other people. The study of sociology, interestingly enough, is an unfamiliar way of looking at the all too familiar. What makes the sociological approach so unique is the rigorous development and testing of theories about the influence of social context on the lives of individuals. Through this lens of social structure, the student will examine issues of the human being in today’s world.

We will be introduced to the general theories, methods and technology used within the realm of sociology, then apply these to the areas of human behavior, exterior social forces, labeling, and inequalities. To understand the human being and the experience of being human as a whole, one must understand the numerous, complex social interactions that occur all the time. For it is often said that we are the most social creature of all – in this class you will see how and why.

Classroom Policies:

Reading the assigned text is the students’ responsibility, and is essential to success in this course. It should be noted though that it is in your best academic interest to read material before the week of lecture/discussion as to aid in your understanding. Any deadlines are final and your work is due on the day specified. Any late work will not be accepted for full credit.

Please refrain from doing anything that might be disruptive and disturb other students or the instructor, such as chronically arriving late, leaving early, talking with neighbors, using a cell phone or texting. Turn all electronic devices off. This class does not require the use of a laptop computer, therefore they are not allowed to be operated in lecture periods.

This academic environment is an open and harassment free one. Participation within the classroom is highly encouraged and is an integral part of the higher education experience. Ask questions – comment on discussions.

Academic Integrity:

Webster’s Encyclopedia Unabridged Dictionary defines plagiarism as: “the appropriation or imitation of the language, ideas, and thoughts of another author, and representation of them as one's original work.” There will be zero tolerance of any form of academic dishonesty. If any evidence appears of students not doing their own work, plagiarism, or outright cheating on quizzes/exams, the matter will be investigated. If it is concluded that such dishonesty occurred, the student in question will receive an automatic ‘F’ for the course. Furthermore, the matter will be reported to the appropriate university office and the instructor will participate in any proceedings against the guilty party.

Disabilities and Special Needs:

Please inform the instructor within the first week of classes if any assistance is required due to disabilities or special needs.
